— TEA LIBRARY —

Glass of Grandad's Masala Chai (D) £4.00

Pot of Grandad's Masala Chai (D) £10.00

The Hindi word 'chai' comes from the Chinese word 'cha', meaning 'tea'. 'Masala chai,' or 'spiced tea', is a traditional Indian drink consisting of black tea infused with 'warm spices - cardamom, cinnamon, black pepper, cloves and ginger. These are simmered with milk and sugar then strained before serving. Enjoyed daily in every Indian household, recipes, and therefore flavours, can vary greatly from one family to another and from one region to the next. Nutmeg, mace, fennel, rose, lemongrass and star anise are just a few of the additional ingredients that can create a family's unique signature drink. Rich in antioxidants, the drink is thought to date back millennia and was first used as a cleansing and invigorating Ayurvedic medicine. Today it has been proven to aid digestion, boost the immune system and reduce inflammation. Although masala chai can increase energy and help improve concentration it also has calming effects, helping the body and mind to relax and unwind before bedtime.

Lemongrass & Ginger £3.60

— COFFEES —

Think of coffee and you might not think of India!

Coffee in India dates back to 1670 when Sufi Baba Budan is said to have travelled there from Yemen, planting seven coffee beans at the foot of the Chikmagalur Hills.

Espresso £3.00

Double Espresso £3.50

Americano £3.50

Flat White £4.00

Cappuccino £4.00

Café Latte £4.50

Hot Chocolate £4.50

Mocha £4.00

Liqueur Coffee £7.50

Golden Milk (N) .. £4.00

Milk simmered with saffron, turmeric, ground almonds and sugar to give a warm, intense glow and subtle sweet marzipan flavour. Sure to comfort the mind and nourish the soul.

The background of the entire page is a sepia-toned photograph of a serene landscape. In the center, a small, ornate pavilion with a domed roof sits on a small island in a calm lake. The water reflects the pavilion and the surrounding trees. In the foreground, two large, intricately carved stone pillars frame the view, their capitals resting on a low wall. The overall mood is peaceful and traditional.
